

Major General James Wright MBA Program
at The College of William & Mary
Mason School of Business

The Major General James Wright MBA Program is an accelerated 15-month MBA with special emphasis on general management, leadership development and logistics. The College of William & Mary has partnered with the U.S. Army and Advanced Civil Schooling liaisons to develop a very comprehensive curriculum that will meet your needs in an accelerated time-frame. The program commences annually for a summer session (early July) for courses in public policy. In August, candidates will matriculate into the year-long core curriculum, integrated with our traditional full-time candidates for a holistic experience and diverse perspective. After core courses are complete in May, MGJW MBAs will continue with an applied summer session that provides a field experience or consulting opportunity through early September.

This is a fully funded Advanced Civil Schooling opportunity for Logistics officers (not just LG Branch, but those working in Logistics, i.e. medical, aviation, and personnel, etc). If you took the CSRB bonus for the money or assignment of choice, you are still eligible to apply for this program. It will be competitive. Only those that apply and top the list in terms of experience, manner of performance and eligibility will be selected to attend.

The MGJW MBA program offers credit for ILE AOC, requiring attending officers to complete only the common core portion of ILE via satellite (if applicable) or distributed learning. Program of study will include one work-study program where students will be expected to conduct a major project for a DoD entity (CASCOM, Army G-4, AMC, etc).

Prospective candidates for the Major General James Wright MBA Program must apply online at:

https://app.applyyourself.com/AYApplicantLogin/fl\_ApplicantConnectLogin.asp?id=wm-mason or www.mba.wm.edu, then select "Apply Now".

The W&M application interface will require you to create a username and password. Please select Full-Time MBA from the "Program of Interest" drop-down menu and then select Major General James Wright MBA Program from "Specific Degree Option." There is only one term to select - Summer 2013. Candidates applying for future terms are not eligible to apply this far in advance as application requirements change slightly from year to year.

Application Requirements:

1. Fully complete the online application, including: responses to two prompted essay questions, two professional online recommendations, a professional resume, academic transcripts (unofficial score reports are acceptable for Admissions Committee review, official transcripts are required if offer of admission is made), and

2. Complete a standardized exam score - we recommend the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT) or the Graduate Record Exam (GRE) - either exam is acceptable for admissions review.
3. Conduct an in-person (Skype or phone interview) by invitation of the Admissions Committee.

Based on thorough review of the admission packet, some candidates will be offered "conditional admission" based on the successful completion of a pre-MBA Accounting and Math program. This determination will be made based on standardized test scores and academic transcripts. The cost for this pre-MBA program is the responsibility of the candidate (out-of-pocket). As with any other funded MBA program, officers will be required to maintain a 3.0 GPA. If this GPA is not maintained, the Army will terminate your attendance at the school and will re-coup the money spent to date from you.

Once your admission decision has been made, William & Mary will notify you directly by email and also Mr. Thomas Rouse at HRC. Please forward your letter of acceptance to your Assignments Officer along with a DA Form 1618 by the date specified in your offer of admission.

Officers will be required to begin classes in July 2013. Official report dates for transition to Williamsburg and the start of classes will be included in your offer of admission.

With any MGJW MBA Program admission requirements questions, please email Director of MBA Admissions, Amanda Barth, at amanda.barth@mason.wm.edu or contact your Assignments Officer at HRC.
